TORRANCE

HERE'S TICKET FOR ELECTION TUESDAY

In the Senate, and because Walter Linberger has too little experience to represent this great state, even though his political ambition is excessive.

We are for Joe Crail for Congress because he is actually a Republican, because he is for the high dam and the All-American canal, because being a Republican he will, under a Republican administration, be able to accomplish more in Washington than his chief opponent, Ralph Criswell.

We are for A. E. Henning because he is able, intelligent, fearless, capable, and would represent his district well.

Being, ourselves, a candidate for Republican county committeeman, we do not wish to express a choice as to the personnel of that committee.

OUR endorsements for judges are based almost entirely on the recommendations of the Los Angeles Bar Association. It seems to us that the baristers are best fitted to inform the electorate as to the qualifications of men who aspire to judgeships. We have noted only one or two exceptions to the recommendations of the bar association, a notable one being our endorsement of the candidacy of Robert Scott.

We are for J. R. Jensen for justice of the peace because he is an able attorney, knowing the law, because he is honest, because he is fair, because he will hold court in Lomita and in Torrance for the convenience of all the people, because he served his country during the war, because his decisions will be his own, because he is tied to no group that has a political axe to grind, because he believes in the impartial enforcement of all laws.

We are for William I. Traeger for sheriff because he has persistently refused to allow the underworld to dictate the policy of his office, because he is a courageous officer with a good public record, because his chief opponent, Charles H. Kelley, is the candidate of the bosses of the city of Los Angeles and has the support of the "broad and liberal element" which is undesirable.

THE primary is of the utmost importance. A large vote should be polled. No matter for whom you intend to vote, be sure that you cast your ballot. And vote early. The ballot is large. It will take longer than usual for each citizen to mark his ballot. So early voting is advisable.

Vote early if you can. But by all means vote.

Tool Nine and Supply Outfit Clash Friday

Tomorrow night the Union Tool and National Supply indoor nines of the Twilight League will cross bats to see which is the winner of their two-out-of-three series. The Tools won the first game 21 to 4, but last night the Supply made amends, the contest 14 to 9. The winner of tomorrow night's game will be declared winner of the league race.

The Pacific Electric team, Starlight League leaders, are hot after a game with the Union Tool outfit. The two teams played the other night, but the game was called on account of darkness when the score stood 12 to 10 in favor of the P. E. A series between the two teams has been scheduled for Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week. It ought to be a warm little series.

Armies of Invasion Bent Upon Destroying Your Property

Armies of invasion, bent upon destruction, have arrived on our shores. Their numbers are reckoned literally by billions and billions.

It was only a few years ago that the Argentine ant beat its way to New Orleans in a cargo of coffee from South America; but it has been multiplying and organizing and raising Cain ever since. It has developed into one of the worst household pests ever known. These ants are worse than a nuisance to housekeepers; they are an affliction.

When the Argentine ants invade a dwelling, they maintain a patrol over all parts of it. Nearly everything edible attracts them and ceaseless efforts are necessary to keep them out of the pantry and kitchen. News of the discovery of something good to eat is quickly carried to the nest, whence come thousands of eager workers to carry off the plunder. They will enter an ice box and will crawl into the ice chamber to reach some much-desired delicacy. They will work their way through the folds of the heavy paper used for wrapping meat. They go blocks away from home; they cross streets and parallel car tracks, black moving ropes of ants, in their drives against the larder.

Todoco Argentine Ant Poison

How can the housewife fight this army of plunderers? She can solve the problem in some degree by taking care to leave no particle of food lying about where it is accessible to the pests. And whenever she locates a colony of ants she can soak a sponge with TODOCO ARGENTINE ANT POISON and enclose it in a tin, which has small perforations to allow the unsuspecting ants to enter. The use of this can eliminates the possibility of contamination of food, or of children inadvertently coming in contact with the poison.

This preparation, from the laboratories of The Owl Drug Company, is a deadly poison to ants. It is a solution of sodium arsenate in syrup. The arsenic is present in its most soluble form. We have not tried to cheapen this ant poison by using molasses instead of sugar. The formula was recommended to us by the insecticidal experts of the University of California, and may be relied upon to successfully exterminate all insects that are attracted by sweets.

The complete outfit consists of a 16-oz. can of TODOCO ARGENTINE ANT POISON, and a small can with holes punched around the bottom and a sponge which is to be soaked in the solution. All for 45c.

JUSTICE COURT

A. J. Miller Jr. will appear in the justice court Sept. 10 for a court trial. Miller was charged with reckless driving, following an accident Aug. 15 on Narbonne avenue near Cherry street, when the car Miller was driving was in collision with one driven by Mrs. George W. Towne.

Earl Young, a negro, was held to answer in Superior Court to charges of burglary and grand larceny. Young was charged by Reba Willis, hostess at La Venta, with appropriating to his own use a Ford coupe belonging to the Palos Verdes Estates, and with the theft of $161. The negro remarked in court that his arrest at a "coon carnival" by O. A. Morris was the "end of a perfect day."

Charged with carrying a concealed weapon, August Marino of the Pueblo was fined $50. Recorder Rippe later suspended the sentence and confiscated Marino's gun.

Modesto Ruiz was given a fine of $58 and 30 days in jail for being intoxicated and beating his wife.

A. Melgoza, charged with being drunk and with possession of intoxicating liquor, is still in jail in lieu of the $100 fine imposed.

John Babcock Taken by Death At Age of 68

John S. Babcock, 68, died at his home at 2012 Gramercy avenue last night at 7:30. Death was caused by pernicious anaemia, from which Mr. Babcock has suffered for several years.

Born in Pennsylvania, Mr. Babcock came to Torrance with his family seven years ago. Most of his life was spent in Wyoming, where he was married in 1897 to Mary J. Morford of Cheyenne, Wyo., who survives him. A member of the Christian Church and of the Woodmen of the World, Mr. Babcock was highly respected by all who knew him.

Besides Mrs. Babcock, four sons survive: Verne, Earl, Glenn, and Leonard, all of whom reside in Torrance; and a brother, William Babcock, of Glendale.

Rev. H. L. Lingenfelter will conduct funeral services at the Christian Church Saturday, Aug. 28, at 3 p.m. Arrangements for interment at Inglewood are in charge of Stone and Myers.

Barnes Leaves On Buying Trip For New Stock

"Tell the folks I'm leaving tonight for the buyers' convention at San Francisco to replenish depleted stocks after the most successful four-day sale in our history," said J. W. Barnes as he hurriedly left the store Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Last Thursday the J. W. Barnes Company published a double-page advertisement in The Lomita News and Torrance Herald, announcing a whirlwind four-day sale. Mr. Barnes stated in this advertisement that he would rather give drastic reductions for four days than to give lesser discounts and prolong the August clean-up throughout the month. That his judgment was right is best evidenced by the crowds that attended the sale during the four days and the satisfactory manner in which the stocks have been cleared.

This week is "Buyers' Week" in San Francisco, and Mr. Barnes is in the northern city securing much new merchandise for the fall and winter trade. Some of these goods are already arriving, and it is expected that within a few days the store will be fully stocked with the newest merchandise that the market of today offers.

Last year Torrance tax collections on unsecured personal property reached a total of approximately $18,000. It is difficult to estimate what the collections will be this year, as no report is available from the county. At this time last year more than $18,000 had been collected. To date only about $300 has been collected.

While all credit has been given to the trustees for their economy budget, the greatest factor in the tax reduction was the increased assessed valuation due to the annexation, which was a direct result of Chamber of Commerce activity.

Local Men Urge Votes for Scott

An urgent appeal to the voters of this city was issued today by Byron C. Hanna, chairman of the campaign committee, to elect Judge Robert H. Scott of Los Angeles to the Superior Court.

"Judge Scott's experience as deputy public defender, and during the past year on the bench, has equipped him to render still more valuable service to the people of this county during the years to come as judge of the Superior Court. He has received assurances of support from practically all the leading attorneys of the county, and his steadfast stand in favor of the vigorous and impartial enforcement of the law have brought under his standard the right-minded people of every community. Let us give him a record vote as an endorsement of his work and assurance of our interest in good citizenship."

The campaign locally is being vigorously carried on by a representative committee, of which Geo. W. Neill is chairman.

The Major will be accompanied by Mrs. Bell and a group of musicians and singers from Los Angeles. Envoys Grace, who is in command of the local corps, will return from her vacation in time to welcome the visitors.
